

FOR PIMPLES, TOO

New Discovery Cures Eczema and Eradicates Minor Skin Troubles Overnight.

A few months ago the dispensers of poslam, the new discovery for the cure of eczema, decided to allow the druggists of the country to handle it. Previous to that time it could only be obtained direct from the laboratories.

Since this change in the method of distribution, poslam has met with the most phenomenal success of anything introduced to the drug trade in the last 30 years. All leading druggists, including Lee & Osgood and Smith's Drug Store in Norwich, are now carrying the special 50-cent size recently adopted, also the $1 jar.

This great success is not surprising when it is remembered that in eczema cases, poslam stops the itching with first application, proceeds to heal immediately, and cures chronic cases in a few weeks. In minor skin troubles, such as pimples, blackheads, acne, herpes, blotches, rash, etc., results show after an over-night application. Experiment samples of poslam are sent to anyone by mail free of charge, by the Emergency Laboratories, 32 West Twenty-fifth Street, New York City.

Poslam is also on sale in Putnam at Larue's; in Danbury at Woodward's; and in Willimantic at Chesbro's.

How Brig Sullivan Lost Boatcrew

Were Towed Away from Vessel by Large Whale—Another Boatcrew Had Close Call.

A New Bedford despatch says:

The loss of a boat's crew from the whaling brig Sullivan of Norwich, Conn., Captain Hegarty, has been the cause of considerable criticism, which is augmented by the stories of Mate J. J. Senna and Boathead John Perry, who have just arrived in New Bedford from St. Helena, where they left the brig.

Mate Senna says he left the brig on account of the incident, and Boathead Perry did likewise. Mate Senna's version follows:

"We were whaling off the west coast of Africa March 11 when we sighted a school of whales. The boats lowered and gave chase. The captain kept track of all of his boats from the masthead until 11.30 in the forenoon, keeping watch particularly of the boat of Mr. Penna, the third mate, which was being towed to windward by a big whale.

"Then he left the masthead for the deck to wear ship, which occupied a half hour. When he again went aloft he could not locate the third mate's boat. He came down and picked up the other boats, which had taken six small whales. This took some time and it was coming up rugged.

"The captain told us the third mate had been carried to windward by his whale, and he thought if he found he was going too far he could cut from his whale and run down to the ship. We had supper and no search was made until 9 o'clock in the evening, when we began to fear the mate had been capsized or stove by the whale, and John Vierra, the second mate, started out in search.

"The second mate was out all night and had a fearful experience. Upon trying to get back to the ship the next morning his boat capsized. It was terribly rough and the accident occurred about 10 miles from the ship. Boathead Perry and myself each manned a boat and went to the rescue, barely reaching them in time. Two of the men were nearly exhausted, and if we had been a few minutes later all six would have succumbed."

Mr. Senna thinks there was no chance for the missing crew in view of the boisterous weather. The six whales made but 35 barrels of oil, as three blasted and could not be cut in. Mate Senna reports that on Dec. 11 the Sullivan spoke bark C. S. S. Senna of this port at Tristan d'Acunha, with 500 barrels sperm since leaving port in September. The bark Canton was there with 150 barrels since leaving St. Michaels in August. Both barks were bound to the Crozettes for right whales.

LOYAL TEMPERANCE LEGION

Given Impressive Talk by Their Superintendent, Mrs. Fields.

Company C, Loyal Temperance Legion, held their regular weekly meeting Wednesday at 4 p. m. The vice president, Arthur Millard, presided and conducted the opening exercises. The children—25 in number—sang and recited each part very enthusiastically. Irene Everett, the secretary, gave an account of the previous meeting, and Treasurer Mabel Hagberg gave a report of the financial standing.

The superintendent, Mrs. Fields, conducted the lesson, entitled King Alcohol, to which all paid close attention. It was made more impressive by the young minds by the illustrations of clusters of bright purple grapes for those that are eaten and a cluster of faded ones to illustrate the sadness they carry to many when turned into wine. The superintendent tried to impress upon them the danger of tampering with anything that contains alcohol, showing the only safeguard to be "Touch not, taste not, handle not."

One of the L. T. L.'s, Edith Shumaker, accompanied on the piano for the singing. They voted to assist the Y's in doing something for some others less fortunate than themselves.
